

Cell Groups at Penshurst Anglican Church

Our church calls itself a 'cell church', built upon the Biblical idea that the primary way that God's people can truly live out the Gospel is through small, intentional communities (called 'cells'). It is here where Jesus is given a far more intimate opportunity to do His work of transformation.

Prayers for Abolitionist Sunday

Today, we join Christians across Australia in taking action against human trafficking and slavery.

When people are exploited for profit, rather than being valued as children of God, the Church must speak out. Even though state-sanctioned slavery is illegal, people around the world are repeatedly trapped in exploitative situations. Let us follow in the footsteps of the Abolitionists whose faith inspired them to seek a legal end to slavery more than 200 years ago. Today, on Abolitionist Sunday, let us join together as Christians in prayer to God against the injustice of trafficking and slavery. Let us:

- Thank God for the work done over the last 2,000 years by people who have given their lives to set people free from slavery and exploitation.
- Ask God to give us the courage to speak out about the exploitation of millions of people around the world who are exploited for others' profit.
- Pray that we will be more aware of our purchasing decisions and that we will purchase items that are made through the fair treatment of workers.
- Thank God for the hope we have been given, that we can be confident that there will be a day when there will be no more exploitation and injustice.
- Commit ourselves totally to God, asking that we will become more like Jesus, more of a true disciple who lives out their beliefs with courage and conviction.
